Description of the course:

General Psychology is a survey course of modern psychology, including brain mechanisms, human development, sensation and perception, learning, memory, thinking, intelligence, motivation, emotion, personality, health, abnormal behavior, therapy, and social behavior. It concentrates on human behavior using a scientific and experimental approach. Applied topics such as cross-cultural, gender, and age differences in human behaviors will also be discussed. This course (or its equivalent taken elsewhere) is a pre-requisite for nearly all other courses in the Psychology Department.

Learning outcomes of the course:

- 1. Overall, students will learn to communicate responsibly and effectively.
  - Describe a multifaceted psychological problem or issue and clearly state the context, problem, and potential solution(s) using the scientific method.
  - Recognize differing points of view and/or theoretical perspectives about psychological issues and recognize the resulting influences on conclusions drawn by different people.
  - Extract information about a psychological issue from several sources and combine it to state a clear conclusion that follows from the evidence presented using American Psychological Association writing style.
- 2. Possess knowledge of contemporary psychological principles and theories.
  - Correctly answer exam questions about historical and current psychological principles and theories.
- 3. Have the ability to find, and to read with comprehension, research studies in the professional literature.
  - Be able to use scholarly databases to find relevant psychological journal articles for research paper.
  - Correctly summarize and appraise psychological publications in American Psychological Association writing style.
- 4. Understand the value of the scientific method as a way of thinking about questions concerning the causes of (and therapeutic approaches to) behavior.

• Correctly describe how the scientific method is used to research psychological questions and principles.

- 5. Have the ability to communicate effectively and responsibly in writing and interpersonal contexts.
  - Discuss, verbally and/or in writing, a psychology issue in an understandable, organized, and logical way, so as to explain an idea, express their feelings, or support a conclusion.

Required readings:

- 1. Myers, D. G. (2014). Psychology (10th ed.). New York: Worth Publishers.
- 2. Readings, including websites, book chapters, or empirical articles, will be posted weekly on Canvas (access from your USF Connect portal, under the Learning Technologies tab). Please check that you can access the course site and contact ITS helpdesk if you have problems. It is the students' responsibility to check course site frequently for updates and announcements.

Recommended readings:

- 1. For research help, read "Psychology Research Help Guide: http://psychologyresearchhelp.wiki.usfca.edu/Psychology+Research+Home".
- 2. Publication Manual of the American Psychology Association (6th ed.).

Course requirements and grading: Attendance and completion of assignments are required, whether taking the course for credit or auditing. The course grade will be based on the following:

Mandatory	Research Participation
48 pts	16 Chapter Quizzes
50 pts	10 Class Activities
25 pts	Introductory Paper
50 pts	Research Paper
50 pts	Exam I
50 pts	Exam II
50 pts	Exam III

Research participation:

During the course of the semester, you are required to participate, as a research participant, in 6 hours of psychological experiments being conducted in the Department of Psychology or, if you prefer, to write 6 research reports. The purpose of this requirement is to orient you to the field of research psychology, to give you first-hand experience as a research subject, and to introduce you to some of the latest topics in the field of psychology. Failure to complete this requirement will result in the lowering of your final grade in the course by one-third of a grade. Please refer to the "Psychology 101 Research Requirement" handout for details about this requirement.

16 Chapter Quizzes:

It is important to keep up with the reading assignments for each class. Please read the assigned chapter(s) for each class before lecture and complete the chapter quiz on Canvas before we begin discussing the topic. Each chapter quiz will earn you up to 3 points and will be available online until the end of the semester. However, it will be the most beneficial to have taken the relevant chapter quiz before attending lectures. These quizzes will also come in handy when you have to review for exams because the questions on your exams will resemble those on the quizzes.

10 Class Activities:

Regular attendance is important and absences can adversely affect grade outcomes. After all, you will not be able to complete required class activities without being present (5 points each). Class activities will include group discussion sessions and experiments throughout the semester, in which any of you could be the spokesperson/leader of a group!

Introductory Paper: Is Psychology a Science?

The scheduled tentative due date for the introductory paper is September 11 (Thursday). You are allowed to work in groups of up to 3 students on this paper. Read prologue and chapter 1 of textbook as a basis for this assignment. Interview 3-5 people and ask them a few questions about psychology. What do they think the discipline is about? Where do they think psychology came from? How is it similar or different from other fields of study such as biology, sociology, and philosophy? Include your first thoughts of psychology, why you decided to take this class, and how your view of the discipline may have evolved after the first few weeks in this class. You can also describe the public image of psychology portrayed in the media and how accurate you think it is. Your paper should be typed, double-spaced in APA format if possible, and about 2-3 pages long excluding the cover page. You need to turn in a hardcopy of your assignment at the beginning of class on the date when this paper is due. Also, a soft copy should be turned in via Canvas. Turn-it In will be used to detect potential plagiarism. Please note, late papers will not be accepted. If you will miss class on the due date, please place your paper in my inbox in the psychology department before the due date, and remember to upload your paper via Canvas before the due date.

Research Paper:

This is an individual assignment, meaning students need to complete the paper by themselves. This assignment will help solidify your skills in using the American Psychological Association (APA) style of paper writing. You will be expected to write a 3-4 page main-text research report based on 3 peer-reviewed articles in psychology. Detailed guidelines for this assignment will be discussed late in class and will be posted on Canvas. Be sure to submit a hard copy, but also upload a softcopy via Canvas. Again, Turn-it In will be used to detect potential plagiarism, and late papers will not be accepted.

Exams:

There will be 3 in-class exams. Make-up exams will only be given in extraneous circumstances (e.g., death of a family member, serious illness). Please see the tentative schedule for exam days and time.

- Each exam will consist of 50 multiple-choice questions.
- Exams will not be cumulative.
- Exam questions will consist of materials covered in lectures and the textbook.

Extra credits (up to 10 maximum):

You will be given numerous opportunities to earn up to 10 extra credit points. For example, you will be given 2 extra points for coming to my office hours (for the first time only), or for attending a psychology-related event that I announce in class and writing a 1-page summary for me. I will announce these approved opportunities as they become available (you are welcome to forward these events news to me, so I can announce it as an extra-credit opportunity).

- Visit me! (2 extra credit points): Come visit me during my office hours! Write a little something about yourself that may help me get to know you ©. Be sure to put your name and course number on it so that I can give you extra credit points. You can either come individually or in groups.
- Bonus assignment (5 extra credit points): Create a song, a rap, a recorded video presentation, a documentary film of a few psychological patients (with actors), a poem, or a story with at least 10 terms you have learned in this class. Please upload your video, audio recording, or written response to Canvas before the last class meeting.

Grading:

Please note, satisfactory performance for any assignment or paper deserves a B. Only work with exceptional performance gets an A.

Accommodating students with disabilities: For students requiring extra time or other accommodations related to disabilities, I am happy to help optimize the learning experience in this course. Please provide me with written documentation from Student Disability Services (SDS) prior to the due date of our first assignment (the introductory paper) so that we can arrange for a mutually agreeable alternative for accommodations as needed.

Class policies: I expect students to behave professionally and value other students' right to learn. To limit distractions, please avoid coming late to class, have no food during class sessions, turn off cell phones and smart phones, and leave your laptop in your bag. All written products should be the student's own work. Students should not submit papers that have been written for prior or concurrent courses. In addition, all students should review university policies on plagiarism. Plagiarism is a serious offense, even if unintentional, and is subject to serious sanctions. It is also assumed that you will:

- Attend all classes and arrange to get what you need from others if absent.
- Raise relevant questions and appropriate observations on the topic.
- Participate through reflection on both your relevant professional experiences, as well as your completion of the reading assignments.

- Depend on each other as well as me, for learning.
- Learn and have fun!

Class attendance: All students are expected to attend all class sessions. Please be on-time to class. Late students should enter the classroom quietly and take an available empty seat closest to the entrance. If students need to leave the class prematurely, be sure to inform the instructor before class starts, take the seats closest to the exit, and leave quietly during class. Students are responsible for everything that is covered in the lecture, including announcements of assignments, due dates, and changes in the syllabus. You will need to take notes, but you are expected to use something other than a laptop or other electronic device to do so. If you prefer to take notes on any electronic devices, please come see me for permission prior to taking notes on your laptop (or other electronic devices). If you are unable to come to class, please arrange to get lecture notes from fellow students. If you are a student athlete or have to participate in department or university events (Psi-Chi, march band) and will miss class sessions, please provide written documentations from appropriate authority for each of the class session before that session takes place. Absence of family emergency or sick leave will also need proper documentation submitted right after you are back on campus. Missing classes with no written documentation will affect your grade.

Cell phone and other electronic device use: Cell-phones and smart-phones use are prohibited in the class. Please turn off any ringing or beeping electronic device before class starts. Students are expected to take notes without a laptop. If students need to take notes with a laptop due to special needs, please advise the instructor. If students are found checking emails or browsing websites unrelated to the class, class-activity grade will be affected, and the privilege of laptop use will be reprimanded.

Disruptive behaviors: Please do not carry on a personal conversation during class. Chatting with other students is distracting, and highly disrespectful to fellow students' right to learn. A student responsible for continual disruptive behavior may be required to leave class pending discussion and resolution of the problem. As an instructor, I reserve the right to drop students for inappropriate behaviors.

Appeal to re-grade: If you believe that your paper or exam has been misgraded, please write a paragraph and submit the paragraph as well as your original paper or exam to the instructor in a week. The paragraph should include explanation and arguments on the part that had been misgraded. The instructor will review your assignment again, and assign an appropriate grade. Please note, the new grade can stay the same, go up, or even be lower than the original grade.

Academic honesty: The following pledge shall be written and signed by each student upon completion of every assignment and examination: "I have neither given nor received aid on this assignment and I have completed it as specified." Written work you submit must reflect your own work and completely indicate with citations material that came from another source. Any paper that fails to do so will receive a failing grade. "Plagiarism is a most serious offense in academia, subject to severe sanctions, including expulsion from school. Ignorance is no excuse, so it is important that you know what plagiarism is & how to avoid it. Plagiarism is presenting words or ideas of another without giving appropriate credit. Even if plagiarism is unintentional, it is still a serious breach of ethical standards in academia, and the plagiarist is subject to sanctions. The most obvious form of plagiarism is when exact words are taken from someone else's work and presented without a proper citation. Less obvious, but still plagiarism, is when ideas are taken and used without proper citation. Even if the work of another is paraphrased into your own words, you must cite the original source. Exact words must be enclosed in quotation marks and a citation given. If you draw material from a secondary source, you must cite both the original writer and the author of the secondary source. See the APA Publication Manual for detailed examples of proper citation format." (abstract from http://www.cgu.edu/pages/903.asp)
